SELF-CARE: MANAGING STRESS IN YOUR DAY

Working with children requires patience, flexibility, and creativity. It also requires the ability to manage stress as you encounter various challenging moments in your day. Unmanaged stress can wreak havoc on your physical health and emotional balance, making it hard for you to take care of yourself and others.

Symptoms of Stress

Throughout your day, you may experience stressful situations with parents, co-workers, or children at childcare and in your personal life. Do you experience these common signs of stress?

- Tense shoulders
- Clenched jaw
- Headache
- Increased heart rate
- Feeling irritable and short tempered

If so, it is important to have some simple stress management tips to use when these moments occur.

Stress Management Tips

Try the following tips when you start feeling the symptoms of stress:

- Deep breaths. Taking a few deep breaths can quickly help relieve your stress. Breathe deeply through your nose and let your shoulders rise; then exhale through your mouth and let your shoulders relax.
- Shoulder rolls. Take a few seconds and roll your shoulders backwards and then forwards; this helps relieve tension.
- Keep things in perspective. Pause in the moment and ask yourself, "Will this issue still matter next week? Next month? In a year?" If the answer is no, take a deep breath and remind yourself that the issue at hand is temporary and not worth the emotional energy you are giving it. Keeping things in perspective is crucial to managing stress.
- Manage your self-talk. One of the hardest things to do is manage your own self-talk. Negative thinking increases your focus on what irritates and stresses you. Turn negative thoughts around by focusing on what is going right.
- Accept things beyond your control. Instead of stressing over what someone else is doing, focus on what you can control - your reaction to the person or situation.

Manage your stress throughout the day so you only have stressful moments, instead of stressful days.
