

Paying Attention to Your Choices

A young child with brown hair in pigtails, wearing a light blue button-down shirt, is holding a stack of six chocolate chip cookies in their left hand and a single red and yellow apple in their right hand. The background is a plain, light-colored wall. At the top of the image, there is a horizontal bar with five colored segments: blue, purple, green, red, and yellow.

Kids make choices all day long.
Let's take a look at the choices
these kids make.

Nora is feeling bored.
She watches videos on her tablet until late in the night.

Christopher doesn't like cereal, so he grabs a handful of candy for breakfast.

José and his brother are bored, so they watch TV after school until dinnertime.

- What choice did each kid make?
- How do you think their energy and mood influenced their choices?

What might have been a better
choice for Nora, Christopher, and José?

HOW DOES YOUR ENERGY AND MOOD INFLUENCE YOUR HEALTHY CHOICES?

Talk with a friend about healthy choices you can make to recharge your energy and motivate your mood.

Say “I will . . .” then tell about your choices.

Write or draw your choices.

My Choices

Your energy and motivation can influence your movement and food choices. Write or draw choices you will make to recharge your energy and motivate your mood.

I will . . .
